This year, your Financial Representative Steve Braun is celebrating his 20th anniversary with the Northwestern Mutual and The McTigue Financial Group. We know the broad positive impact Steve has had on the lives of his clients during these two decades of service; you understand the specific impact Steve has had on your life as you have journeyed together.

In an era when Financial Advisors come and go, Steve has shown amazing stability, because he learned early in his career that to succeed in this business he had to earn your trust, understand your needs, and put your interests first to design appropriate, individualized solutions. Nobody does that better than Steve.

We are proud of what Steve has accomplished in his business practice, and we are also proud of what he has done for the community. His work with The City of Hope, Goldman Philanthropic Partnerships, and Glenwood School for Boys and Girls represents countless hours of his time—time spent giving back to a community that in Steve's words, "has given much more to him."

Steve's success for you has motivated our company to honor him with numerous awards and recognition year after year after year. We salute him for that. Every day we recognize that his reputation and work ethic make him the ultimate role model for our new colleagues.

While we congratulate Steve for his many accomplishments, we also want to take this opportunity, on behalf of Northwestern Mutual, to thank you. One key ingredient in Northwestern Mutual's success is the loyalty of our customers. We work to earn that loyalty every day. We hope that Steve will continue to serve you and us with distinction every day for many years to come.

Sincerely,
